

Intimacy with God

Must Read Forward

Jesus Christ came to redeem us back from a fallen world. It rests in a darkness that hides the wave found within time. Our dim understanding cannot comprehend what's in the breadth, length, height and depth, which is known through the love of Christ that surpasses understanding. Only by the Holy Spirit may one be filled with the full knowledge of God's love within the framework of light to see and walk in eternal life. For everyone who walks in accordance with Him is granted the riches of His glory to be strengthened with power through His Spirit in the inner self. He, bearing the truth of the light, not only redeems us into it, but shows us the way to continue to walk in it. "Walk in the light while you have the light lest darkness overtake you." From the fervent heat of His love, "We love because God first loved us," where we are changed and refashioned, melting our essence in the elements of our being as we're transformed into the essence of Himself.

After the act of what is called salvation, God who sent His Son to bring us back to His Kingdom desires intimacy with us in a progression of growth in the loop of His regenerative resurrection loving bloodline which lives. This book will explain how to find and continue on in an intimacy of "God's love that restrains us," while holding us in a perpetual embrace. For as God commingles with us throughout our existence of being, we know being intimate with Him.

Yes, God wants more than salvation for us, He wants to know us in a bond of an intimately unbroken succession of love, which is perpetually available for all.

Spirits of Division

How do people agree to disagree and stay in the same family of humanity?

“We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities of powers and spiritual wickedness in the high places.” For the abusive spirits that live in darkness are always trying to blot out the light of God’s Holy Spirit of love to prevent God’s affections from reaching us. God says in His word, “If you search for me with all your heart you will find me.” Persevere like a sperm looking to fertilize an egg till creation is sparked by light. Then when the veil of darkness is pierced through, we are given a glorious choice to remain in the light through the flesh and blood New Covenant of Jesus Christ and experience God intimately.

In wrestling spiritual wickedness, I have discovered that the demons know and twist scripture to make them sound like there is life in them alone. In fact, they were meant to be more than a guide or a place to camp out with as there is more than only them as a source of fellowship with God. “For if all the books were to be written about everything the Lord said and did, the world itself could not contain them.” As a springboard through the essence of His door, scripture verses are not meant to pen us like animals with limitation, but to practice an intimate relationship with God that we could better know and understand Him. My advice is to remain teachable, as God is alive within living things that continue to grow or you will become penned up and stagnate, which will create a staleness that you'll want to escape from. The real God is always fresh, new, and offers a vibrant existence as the Scripture says, "Taste and see that the Lord is good." This is where we go beyond the salvation of being delivered from darkness and enter into the depth of God's mysteries, which only intimacy with God can reveal.

What is actually taking place in the minds of people that surround us? I have discovered that all thoughts are spiritual and leave us with the choice of ultimately being led to take root in time or eternity. Time is a prison with a death sentence on it in its wave of motion while we pass through in the testing ground of the length of the breadth within it. For when time ends, the essence of our beings of elements are either used to be transferred or stored. Energy used for further creation is broken down and transferred when we miss God's love. This is where new elements are formed as they come into formation. They emanate from our souls towards eternal damnation by rejecting the Holy Spirit's guidance or we know God in eternal life "intimately" by becoming a part of the process of creation ourselves. God knew us before we were conceived in our mother's womb," and "Though you make your bed in hell, low I am there." There is only one way that it is possible for God to keep track of us within this picture. For as He is omnipresent, He must take a piece of the element of Himself and apply it to whatever He creates and yet, being the Father of all spirits, He exists separately outside His creation at the same time. In Him, through Him, by Him, within the unity of the Holy Spirit, we live and breathe and move and have our being now and forever. Jesus said, "Does not the scriptures say that you are gods?" The nature of our God is to create and this is made manifest within the inside essence of the nature of our beings to create as well. Therefore, spiritual division occurs when we try to create things for our creature selves to have things revolve around our beings rather than glorify the Creator who created us.

Time is a wave that contains spirits that keep us in dark motion as we age while riding on its forward progression, without reflection, like winds upon the water until stilled into eternity. It must be burnt away for it to melt into the brilliance of God's light. "Be still and know that I am God," is a verse from the Bible that indicates that we need to come out of motion, experience the discomfort of friction until heat gives way to burning flames that eventually produce light. "Jesus Christ said that He is the light and the life of all men," and He alone has led the way by His seed to bear a first "Eternal Life" fruit that reproduces after its own kind.

"He leads me beside the still waters, He restores my soul." "For now we look through a mirror darkly, but one day I shall know Him as He is for I shall see Him face to face."

“God came to give us life and life more abundantly.” These verses mean to me that we have a choice of where we will spend our life. We can either end up continuing to see things darkly or step into God’s light which gives us the freedom to experience an abundance of life throughout eternity. “To know God is to know eternal life.” Creating something with another person over a period of time turns a single thread into a complete garment of a relationship. This is how we grow through the New Covenant, line upon line, precept upon precept, here a little there a little with God’s regenerative resurrection flesh and blood entering into us to keep the blood flow of life moving inside the stillness of His presence; on earth as it is in heaven.

While not able to slow down when being driven by spirits with destructive forces, they drive us out of ourselves to enter shifting shadows away from God’s pure light. Fear and anxieties come by not being able to see within the dark. Although, when God’s love generates a heat that sparks forth light, we can see what we were afraid of and face it as we now know that we are protected by God. From continual bombardment of spirits upon the wind, our thoughts can be influenced towards darkness rather than light and here, there are variables that shake us to the core. “For everything that can be shaken will be shaken so that which will remain cannot be shaken.” For when shaken, we discover what we thought was stability and comfort for our lives had us locked in the flesh to fulfill lustful desires and live for a moment of pleasure rather than get the big picture of God's love. Missing this embrace, which is meant to last for an eternity, will always leave us without contentment.

Demonic powers breaking us down interfere with the protection of remembering God's love. This is where without full faith, minions can gain access through a foothold, disrupting our peace in a relationship with God, before we're taken captive within ourselves in a stronghold. For our energy becomes drained when unaware our minds are being divided into a dimness by demons that hide in darkness while being seduced away from God's light.

"What profit a man if he gains the whole world and loses his only soul?" At all costs, we must completely trust that "God is going to bring to completion that good work which He has started within us," through His New Covenant promise.

When having intimacy with God, His Spirit quickens things to our mind spiritually, reaching inside as a part of us, drawing us even closer to Himself in a perpetual living cycle.

He keeps it in the offering of His perpetual sacrifice of Body, Blood, Soul, and Divinity as established at the last supper. Later this flesh and blood promise comes to fruition as ratified on the accomplishment of the cross after Jesus partakes of the sour wine vinegar completing His perfect walk. From the Jewish perspective, it was known that there was a fourth cup reserved for Elijah at their Seder meal, but it was discovered later that the cup was reserved for the Lord of Hosts as the sign of the Messiah being fulfilled.

Christ has indeed been raised from the dead, He is the first fruit of those who have fallen asleep. For since death came through a man, the resurrection of the dead comes also through a man. For as in Adam all die, so in Christ all are made alive. Without God's intimacy, the proverb, "A dog returns to its vomit and a sow that is washed to her wallowing in the mud" applies as we become divided within the existence of our minds when it is believed that salvation negates being in God's Holy presence.

This is perpetually perpetuated within societal structures within the minds of man until the mind of God's singleness of light can be achieved. The mercy of His grace, which establishes covenant with us, is available to all, but because all do not come and tabernacle with Him by moving into His kingdom, there is a division that remains. The spirits of this world keep the winds of time in motion, for in the stillness of shalom's "rest," spiritual division can be ended by hearing God's voice of peace inside the quiet of His kingdom.

The Breadth

The breadth is a testing ground that passes through the length of time. Spiritual warfare happens when trying to figure things out in our pride to get out of the unstable discomfort of the motion within the mindful thoughts of mankind. We are in the world and of this world's abusively numbing system, which blinds us to God's love that would take us out of it spiritually "in each moment we know Him" and physically after death. Moving in the flow of an incomprehensible darkness in the motion of time, there is no escaping its prison. For while one is moving in a procession of non-existence of false ideas by perpetually being blown outside themselves, they find no rest. People practice a lie and lack understanding without the still and firm foundation of substance from light of truth in themselves. Lacking in light without being in touch with God's essence of being within them, there is no comprehension to be true to know oneself in dim light. God's light can only happen in one's life while slowing down to experience going against the motion that keeps one dim in spiritual winds. Yet the door to truth can be an uncomfortable or unsettling place. So, rather than leave what is known, people choose to remain in what is spiritually familiar to them in their fears of uncertainty.

If one does choose to leave the breadth as I have done, this is what lay beyond all discomforts. Friction will happen when going against the wind at first, but after the heat of burning into fire for those who seek the sheer love of truth, light comes forth in purity in the form of the “Man, Christ Jesus, Son of God” where all can be formally introduced. He is in the perpendicular light, revealing the way as a door out of time while in time, which makes a person's incompleteness from the commotion of coming out of motion through perpetual growth in stages, progressively complete. Pure truth has a density which displaces lies. All progression of growth is sparked from a stable seed or vantage point of peace that grants perspective for direction, causing one to break from and exit time where all enter into eternity.

The wave of Time

Before leaving the motion of the breadth, we tried to figure things out for ourselves till coming to that place of humbly realizing that we could not. After trying the any of everything with my wisdom, I further discovered that I could not improve myself by secondhand revelation from others limitations. Then I got hit by beads of truth of light within my darkness. Later, it was discovered that there are messenger angels that camp out within brilliance or dimness of mind as others around us all have thoughts that are spiritual and angelic.

Messenger angels bid for our attention and affections, pulling on us at intersects that pass through the breadth within the wave of time. Because time is in motion, it is on a wave of forward progression until it runs out when fully aged. Our experiences within the breadth of sequences either pull us down into the depth of a trough in times abyss to meet distress or upward into a height of worldly success. In either case, there are hidden evils inside dark emotions that overpower to pull our thoughts out of line. Intact, feelings would ordinarily spark forth light as cohesive emotions and thoughts stitched together offer a reflection of God's light for direction. For when thrown off balance by demonic powers, division occurs within the separation of love and truth inside us. We encounter a lack of peace for perspective where dragged upwardly by an illusive jewel, which offers success to meet an angel of darkness disguised as light, we try to climb to a worldly height. Our talents that God gave us should not be used to serve ourselves, but the giver of it. For the gift is not greater than the giver of it. A pinnacle of focus for me is to be grateful to God with my energies of worship. My gift must not be worshiped or anyone else's as to sit upon it as a throne, but leave that space reserved for God. For when He rests upon our hearts, there is a foundation of peace, a building of love, and a fountain of life giving joy. All who share in this kind of relationship with Him find life purposeful and walk in the life eternal life gives. Once God's seed is planted and understood, our roots stretch to shatter time. The deep calls unto the deep in stillness and perpendicular to this stillness of depth while beneath the deep we grow beyond the heights of a tesseract existence. Now in union with the Holy Spirit, we no longer belong to the realm of time as we have exited through God's door.

Choice

Choices either enhance or constrict us in life. We do the right thing by God and we draw closer to Him in relations through the spiritual place or egg in which we live. Yes, our physical bodies are within the world we are in. In protocol, I see that if we do the wrong thing, God holds us back to protect Himself from getting abused until we do the right thing. Wrong actions deem us as unsafe, keeping us in the dark as there are varying degrees of light that allow us to draw nearer to God in progressive stages of growth through the elements in our internal and external surroundings.

Left unstable, finding ourselves in a darkness without sight, the question comes to mind, "How did losing my peace for perspective happen?" Discovered off the path of light, we realize God is no longer with us during an uneasiness from now being restless. Stepping out of rest, we and God encounter pain. This is an indicator that something is wrong. For without a full surrender on our part, we do not experience utter powerlessness and then God's grace cannot accomplish His finished Kingdom work within us.

Transformation only truly takes place for stability to set in when we are so close to God that His love constrains us, as not to do damage to Himself or us within His kingdom. There are no variables in a pure and Holy Spirited directed light. This is where our love for God prevents any division inside us. For as the threads of light are pulled so tightly together in intimacy with God, there is no more room for spirits of darkness to enter back in. When the truth is present within sight of light, God's presence of holiness will lockout all dividing double minded thoughts of variable choices of thought. A single mind causes those who continue to desire a walk within God's kingdom, on earth as it is in heaven, the choice of choosing to remain in eternal life. "Many are called, but few are chosen." We become chosen when we choose God above all else. "If you search for me with all your heart you're going to find me." My choice is now, "My Lord, if you see anything within me that is not pleasing to you, I ask that you move it from me, that we can both be safe in a relationship together. I see in your word that Mary has chosen the better choice to remain at your feet, I ask that you change the essence of my being to remain with you in the same way." We must choose Him above all else for Him to choose us back. A big hug with the truth of deeper and deeper love, this is the essence of God throughout eternity.

Intimacy with God

“We love because God first loved us.” “Be still and know that I am God.” “I am the vine, you are the branches and unless you abide in me you can do nothing.”

The essence of the truth of God’s love in us brings us into existence. Jesus says, “I am the way, the truth, and the life and no man comes to the father, but by me.” The “Father of all lights” is pure truth which contains life. For the truth of the nature of life is to exist in a completion of fullness. Religion is not an animal pen that restricts us to scripture alone. God, The Creator, is so much more as “All of creation testifies of Him.” He is a part of His workmanship in the essence of his nature “Intimately,” and He is separate from it at the same time.

Being separate from His creation, God is able to transubstantiate bread and wine by His spoken word, transforming these elements into His own flesh and blood and enter back into it through consecration. It also must be noted that there is the consecration of a priest in Persona Christi perpetually. For Jesus being the Great High Priest is able to enter time from eternity and transcend time back again to being seated at the right hand of the Father within every priest. Glory to God in the highest. I sing praise to His excellent name for His cycle of the wheel of perpetual life.

I speak at the gate of my mouth with full thoughts and emotions connecting as I kiss the essence of God in the Holy Spirit and experience the fullness of Him on earth in eternal life. I shall step into my glorified body in heaven one day.

Now, just as Jesus multiplied the two fish and five barley loaves through His perfection of action and spoken word in a regenerative living resurrection bloodline of life back then, "Being Alive," there is still His power to create. He still creates within us, His crown of creation. God speaks everything into existence by His word in the substance of all things, His living regenerative blood, and by His Holy Spirit. He crafts and creates new life in us through Him in the consecration of His Holy Eucharistic self.

At every mass, God takes a piece of the essence of Himself from all of creation and creates that "We His creation" can be refashioned into His image. By Him entering into our flesh and blood with His flesh and blood, He commingles with and recreates us into the likeness of His image through re-creation. God's flesh and blood entering into our flesh and blood, it does not get more intimate than this. For when the Holy Eucharist is taken with full understanding and in the Lord's timing, we are further translated by being rearranged in our essence of elements to further walk in eternal life.

In man's protocol under the darkness of Satan's cloak, knowing the knowledge of good and evil, there is a divided double demonic mind. Everything comes from a second hand revelation when we consult each other, which robs us of having intimacy with God as it says in the Psalms, "The deep calls unto the deep." The Bible goes on to say, "You search the scriptures for in them you believe that there is life, but the scriptures speak of me."

In the mind of Christ there's a cohesive vision of light in a single mindedness that allows us to connect directly with God in His protocol. For when the scriptures are not correctly interpreted to rightly divide the word of truth as to testify of the New Covenant to completely fulfill the word of God, intimacy with Him is not achieved, but suffers abortion. Here, people end up preferring darkness in their own pride rather than light and remain stuck in the motion of the breadth rather than slow down to break free of time's discomforts. People have been led to believe that this realm in which we live is all there is while God weeps in His heart for everyone to come to Him and know Him in the light of eternal life. An intimate bond of love in unity goes beyond mere salvation as here we connect with the bowels of God's compassion, avoid destructive rage, and go through the gate of Eucharistic adoration. There is thanksgiving in our hearts as our emotions and thoughts are brought together to heal by connecting with God in the completion of His regenerative resurrection flesh and bloodline to know Him intimately in His meal.

People who do not know intimacy with God get embittered. Each circumstance that they were first led to believe gave them relief causes them to encounter spiritual dryness instead. Though later discovering what they thought they enjoyed, which set them up for spiritual deceptions where taking it out on others, they invite even more spirits to invade them. For when taking matters into their own hands rather than calling on God, this is what happens. Remembering what I was like before I knew the Lord, I know I need to be tolerant of other people who need to humble themselves and ask God for forgiveness of their sin natures, too.

Because of the way God is tolerant with us, crowning us with tender mercies and loving kindness upon our heads, we are again reminded of how we are loved because God loves us. "God is the same yesterday, today, and forevermore." The closer we get to our Lord the more we encounter and know about Him.

"My God is an ever present help in time of need." The more we appreciate Him in stillness, the greater eternity lights His love to meet all of our needs. Then listening becomes easy as we can clearly hear His voice in the fervent heat of the light of this love as we fuse with Him to draw even closer. In stages of growth, we become transformed to be like Himself for the purpose of sharing His intimate love as we drink it in while in stillness before Him. The fruit does not fall far from the tree and He invites all people to be shepherded by Him so that they can be a part of His love, too. When God is with us, while still and in His presence, it is very easy to be as wise as a serpent and harmless as a dove. For while enjoying His presence, we can remain silent before Him until a time He sees fit to flow as a river of life in His Spirit from the strength of His joy which He gives us. Yes, as branches connected to His vine, we are an extension of God's love by the intimacy He has with us, to us, and through us in the unity of the Holy Spirit now and forever. Amen.

Rest for Your Soul

“Come all of you who are burdened and you will find rest for your souls, for my yoke is easy and my way is light.”

Prior to electricity, oxen were used to grind down wheat to make grain by being harnessed to turn a great stone, which was used as a grinding wheel. As the oxen got old, a young one was introduced into the yoke next to it to build up the new one's muscles until it would eventually take over. While being strengthened, the young oxen reaches a point where he is in tandem with the older one where they are pulling together effortlessly. Then there is the transfer of power of the weight being pulled to the younger oxen as the older one's strength decreases until it is put out to the peaceful rest of a pasture.

John the Baptist said, “I must decrease so that He may increase all the more.” We enter into peace as we relinquish the power of our spiritual strength that we draw from in this world. Rage or being jovial are examples of spirits that hide in dark areas of life. So, until the strength of God's Holy Spirit completely takes us over to carry our load, there is no rest within a soul. Once trained, God's Spirit takes over as we are energized with life while at rest when the Holy Spirit speaks through us. Otherwise, we would take back the power from God and experience loss by suffering the damage of our efforts. For when we speak outside of being at rest and in the moment, we become part of the wave of motion instead of disrupting it while being still. We do not want to handle a team of wild horses when enjoying the ride of God's Holy Spirit protection. For if we take the reins and try to handle them in our strength, yanked from the enjoyment of our ride, we can easily be dragged to death.

Do not take your solidly established base on a firm foundation of personal experience and toss it to the wind in the name of a concept of remaining teachable. For what you have experienced in a relationship with God is true as long as you're practicing what you understand about Him. Beware of secondhand revelation from others (spirits), demons tremble and mislead as they know scripture, too.

Be confident in what God has trained you in your relationship with Him. For David was offered King Saul's armor and refused it because it was offered to Him second handedly as the best the world had to offer, which being of another spirit was unfamiliar to Him.

Yet, continue to examine new encounters and build on what remains tried, tested, and true, for in instability nothing grows in a sequence that will hold true. "Pride comes before a fall," as "God resists the proud but gives grace to the humble. Proudful people build on their own and do not take the time to check to see whether their foundation is firm or not. Those who are humble, God lifts up higher when they come to Him and respectfully make requests. For they acknowledge that if they didn't create themselves, it is recognized that God can do a better job with them in His strength and wisdom. "Man plans and God laughs."

The word of God is Jesus not a book, for it contains the living Holy Spirit of eternal life to cloth and change us into His image when we allow Him to tailor us. Learning to walk through the ups and downs in life and keep an even keel of peace by trusting God is essential. Having peace for perspective shows that we are on God's path and in His kingdom. Beware of learning unstable ideas as they will keep you ever learning without stability in the guesses of fleeing moments rather than building on the firm foundation of knowing the truth that leaves one at rest. When you learn to be stable with God in His present moment of shalom, a foundation is there that we can grow from earth into heaven on. Musing is not a luxury, but a necessity for when life is out of balance, we are going to make poor choices from a lack of vision and trip and fall and harm ourselves. Resting from a fall to emotionally recover without healing perpetually leaves us with bruised wounds, which does not allow us to find true rest for our soul.

I am writing through the sum total of my life's experiences that once were jumbled, but are now cohesively in focus. I weep with those who weep, praying with genuine compassion as a whole person. I am no longer disjointed, for

I've been praying through for a night and the joy of a restful soul has come in the morning.

When man in his pride tries to emulate the Son of God in his strength, he will fall due to his unstable nature every time. Though when all surrender in humility and ask God to change them into His image of truth, according to light and life, they step onto Christ's firm foundation inside eternity. The darkness of time has ended as God's seed has been planted for His Holy Spirit to grow us on earth as it is in heaven till we get our glorified bodies in the full music of His realm. I notice that whenever I write, more light comes into my darkness line upon line until one day the garment of my relationship with Him will be complete. In slowing down to catch up with God, it allows for a full embrace to envelope us with His love, herein lies intimacy.
